Dr. Donald “Doc” Arnette is the First African-American to receive a Ph.D. of any discipline at UT Southwestern. During his career an Oncologist and Senior Medical Liaison he has excelled in his field. Dr. Arnette overcame challenging life-altering events along the way, instead of a successful NBA career, his medical experience has afforded him another avenue of glory. Dr. Arnette has gone on to mentor NFL players, Entrepreneurs, students and more. After learning to master dealing in The Art of Perception he has authored a bestseller entitled: I Am Supposed To Be Here available 6.7.15
